Mergers & Acquisitions

Dan has held many roles, including outside counsel, in-house counsel, head of legal operations, and as a revenue analyst. This wide range of experience gives Dan a unique perspective when assisting clients with legal issues. Dan focuses his practice on outside general counsel representation, mergers and acquisitions, debt and equity financing and other commercial transactions. He has negotiated hundreds of contracts governing various types of corporate transactions, including technology products and services procurement, data licensing, event hospitality, leasing and facilities maintenance, speaker engagements, and employment/consulting arrangements.

Prior to joining McGinnis Lochridge, Dan worked as Head of Legal Operations & Vice President for an investment firm, where he managed a global legal department, among other responsibilities.
